Residents can have their say on Radlett Neighbourhood Plan

There’s a further opportunity for residents and interested parties to comment on the latest draft of Aldenham Parish Council’s Radlett Neighbourhood Plan before it is submitted for public examination.

This period of engagement will begin on 12 November for a six-week period and it is being run by Hertsmere Borough Council which has a regulatory role in publishing the plan ahead of a public examination led by an independent examiner.

During the six week period, the community will be able to have their say on what sort of development is encouraged, supported and expected in the area. Following the examination, the plan will be subject to a local referendum and if supported by the local community, will be used by Hertsmere Borough Council in the determination of planning applications in Radlett.

The plan can be viewed from tomorrow (7 November) by visiting https://hertsmere-consult.objective.co.uk/portal/pp/radlett_plan/radlettreg16. However, comments can not be made until the portal goes live on 12 November.

To view a PDF of the plan, visit www.hertsmere.gov.uk/radlettplan.

Paper copies of the plan will also be available from the Civic Offices in Borehamwood, Aldenham Parish Council offices and Radlett library.

All responses received will be forwarded to the independent examiner whose appointment will be agreed with Aldenham Parish Council.

Working with you, for you, improving our communities, our places.
