Approach

Background

Our ambition is to retain the best of the past, allow for present needs and plan for a desirable future. One of the major issues in the original survey of residents (2015) was the ongoing erosion of the bungalow stock in the village.

This need was particularly raised by older residents who would like the opportunity to downsize from larger homes, but stay in the village where their friends and social activities were. Many did not want flats as this was seen as a step too far in the ageing process, but wanted living accommodation, mostly on one floor, with some garden, and bungalows were seen as the ideal solution. A detailed bungalow survey was undertaken in 2014 to list out all the bungalow stock, many of which have now re-developed. However, the key justification for retaining bungalow stock is their appropriateness for retirement living. Bungalows have a part to play in our approach to strengthening social cohesion, mixed communities and well-being.

A second issue was one of neighbourhood character. The working party had received views from residents of Radlett, that the clusters of bungalows in locations around the village created a visual amenity and setting above and beyond their individual importance as a housing type. One striking example of this was the positioning of bungalows on the corners of roads around the Newberries Estate, where the lower roof heights of the buildings facilitate a sense of openness, arrival and key vistas were there for all to appreciate and enjoy. The relationship with the landscape and the overall impression of a verdant neighbourhood is of particular relevance here. Our decision to designate clusters of bungalows as areas of specific local design character was made to ensure that their discernible town and landscape character and quality is recognised, retained and where possible strengthened.

Relevant Specific Radlett Plan Objectives

- + To protect and enhance the verdant character of Radlett (Objective 1);
- + To meet new housing demand in a manner that is sensitive to the character of the village, guided by site-specific context analysis and the Radlett Character Assessment 2016 (Objective 2);
- + To support the development and/or retention of smaller homes available to younger people and older downsizers (Objective 3);

POLICY HD8

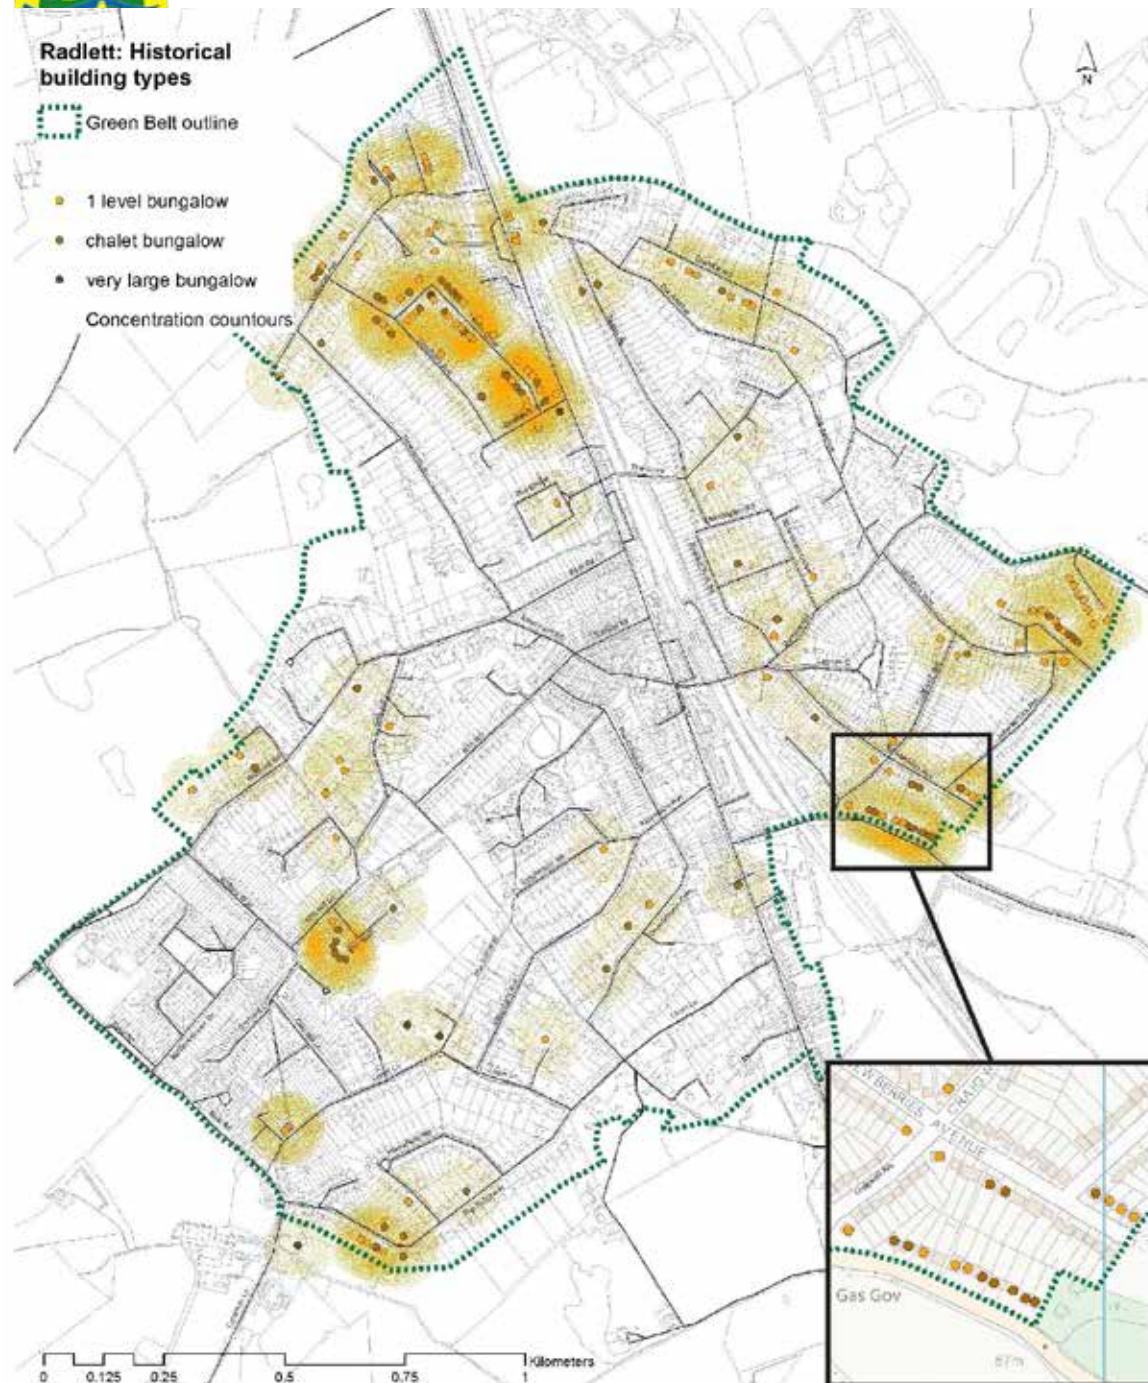

THE RADLETT BUNGALOWS

HD8.1 Development proposals which impact on any of the Radlett Bungalows identified for their individual and/or group value in contributing positively to local townscape character should protect or enhance this contribution. (Ref. Map Policy HD8.1 in Radlett Plan and overleaf)

HD8.2 Replacement of an existing bungalow or chalet bungalow must be commensurate in terms of ridge height and its setting. Applications shall respond positively to and are in keeping with key features typical of local bungalows and their setting while adapting to current building, access and energy efficiency standards. (Ref. Figure 15 in Radlett Plan)

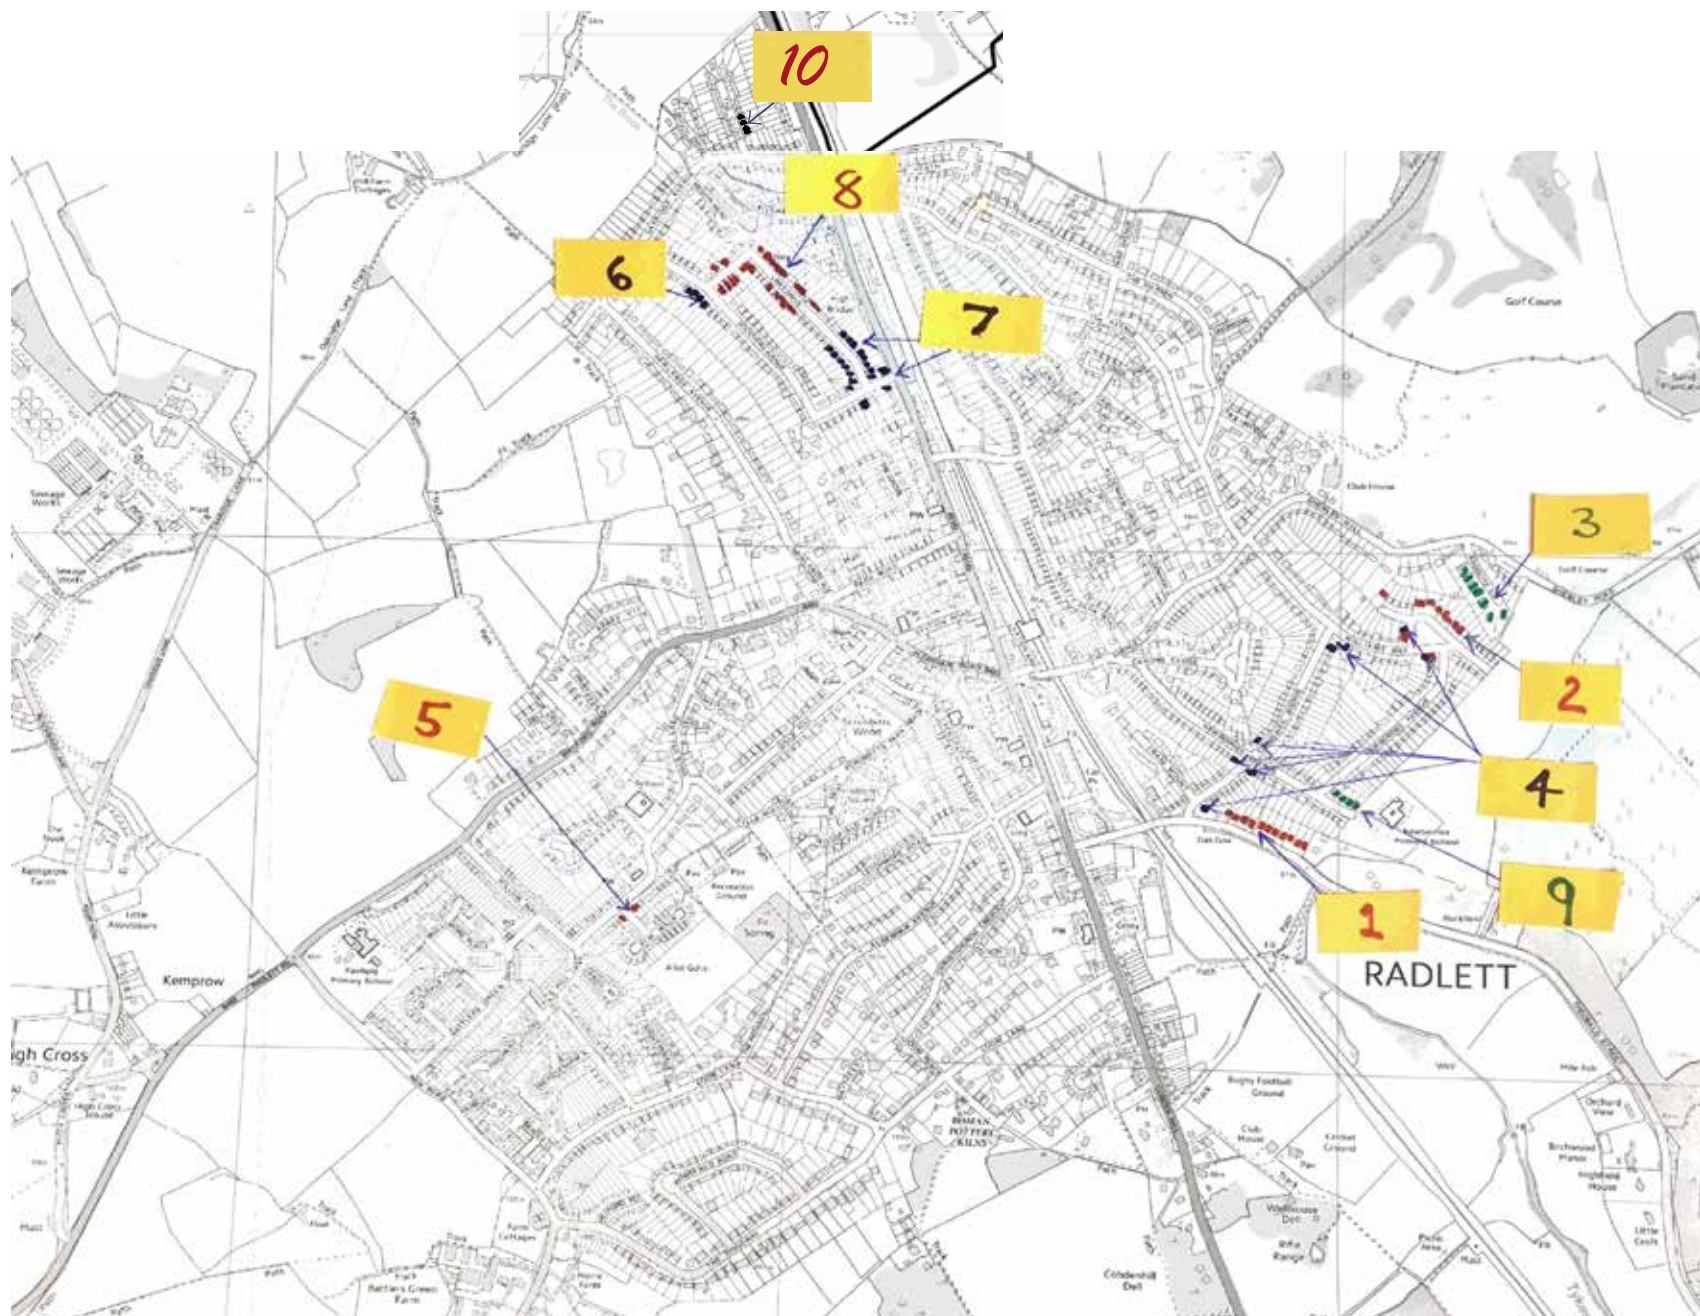

In the following we present:

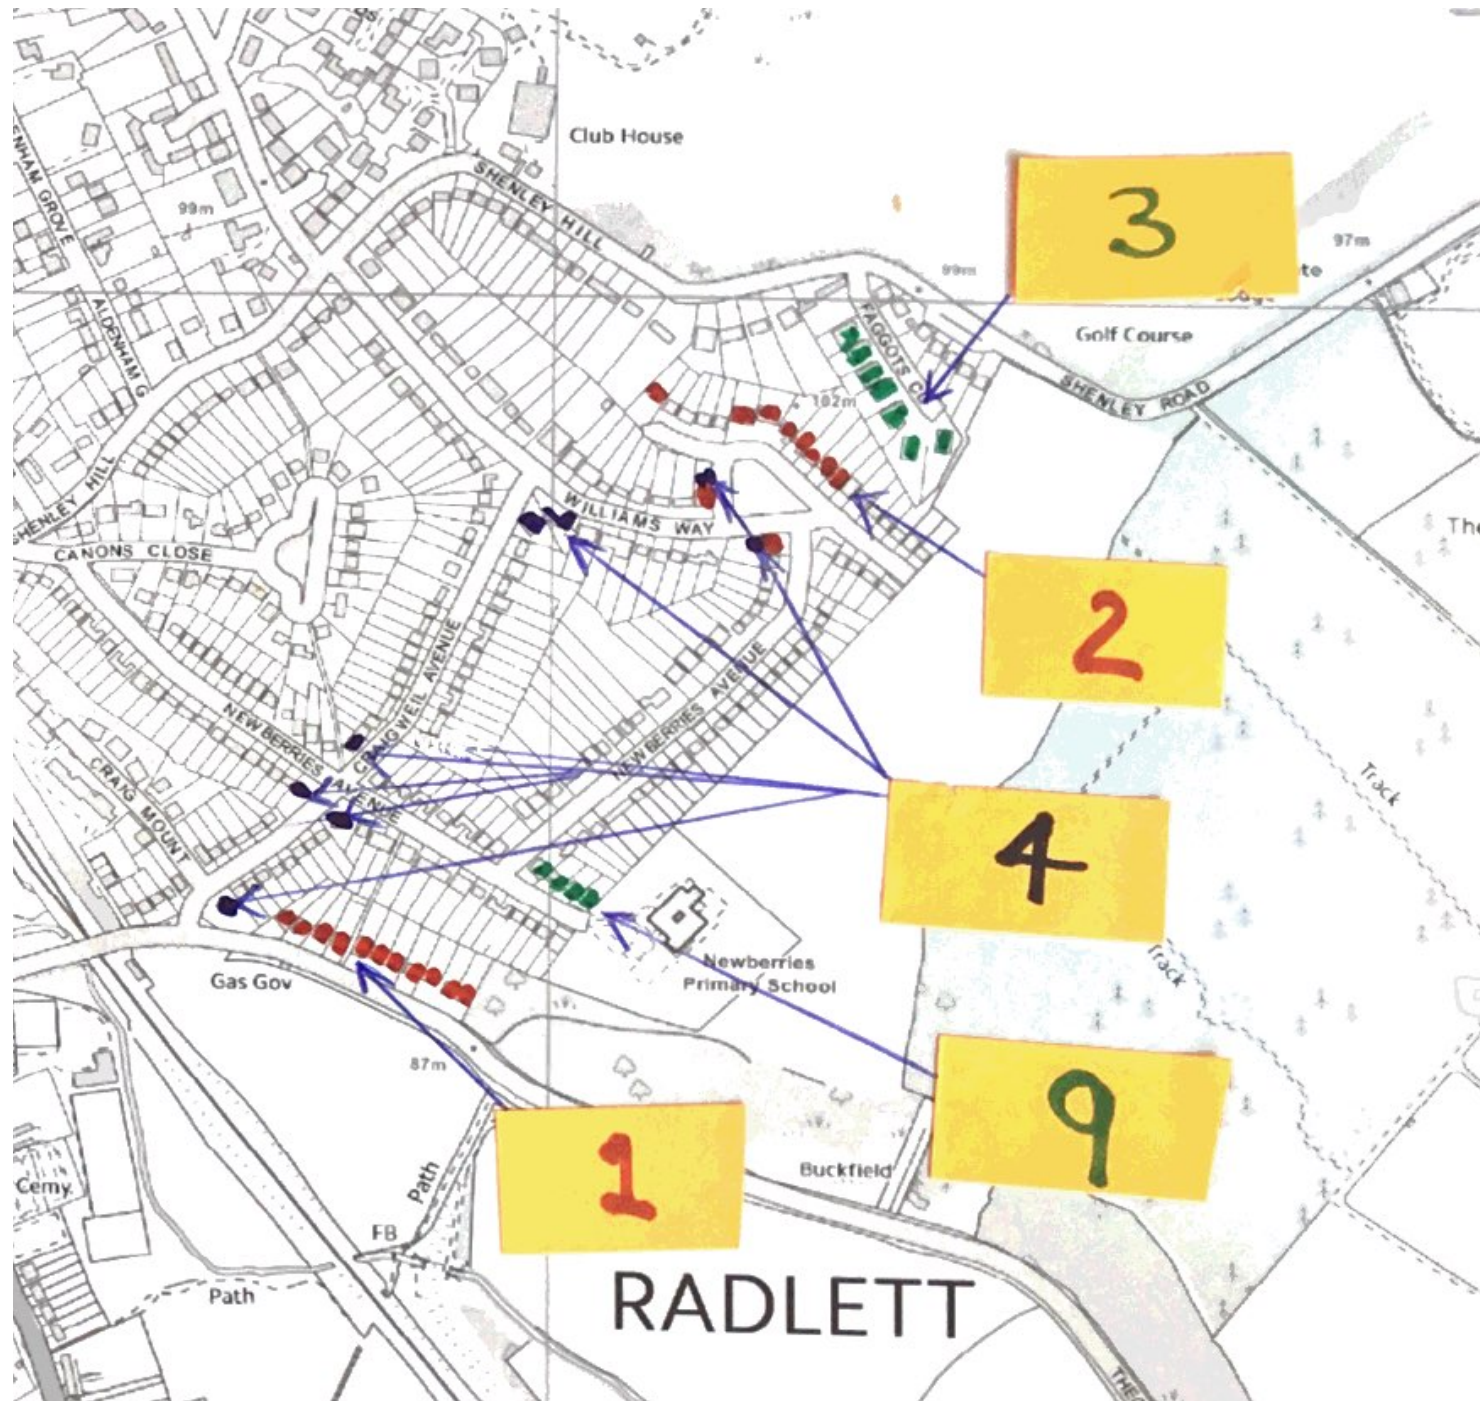

- a) the map of all bungalows and chalet bungalows in Radlett (2016), and
- b) maps, aerial maps and a photographic register of all selected clusters of bungalows illustrating their town and landscape setting. Each property is provided with a brief explanation for their inclusion under Policy HD8.1 and cluster reference number (1 to 10) . We have identified nine clusters located in two parts of the village (1,2,3,4,6,7,8,10) and one specific street corner setting (5).
